A decorative flourish or calligraphic element, possibly a signature or initial, rendered in dark ink on aged paper. The design features elegant, sweeping curves and loops, characteristic of 18th-century calligraphy. It appears to be a stylized 'S' or a similar monogram, with a long, flowing tail that curls back towards the main body of the letter. The ink is dark and slightly worn, and the paper has a warm, yellowish-brown tone with some minor staining and texture visible.
