Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a Latin document. The text is arranged in approximately 25 horizontal lines. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of age and wear, including some staining and irregular edges. The script is dense and difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge of the language and dialect.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a Latin document. This section appears to be a continuation or a separate part of the text above, written in a similar style. It contains several lines of text, some of which are partially obscured by the large signature below.

Handwritten signature and text in a cursive script. The signature is large and highly stylized, written in dark ink. To the right of the signature, there is a circular stamp or seal, which is partially legible and appears to contain the name "Sebastianus" and some other text. The overall appearance is that of a formal document or a personal letter.
